Key to Contraction Paragraphs

Letter A Contractions

About this afternoon: We will head across the river after lunch. We will again play Thomas and his ally Percy, who actually almost beat us last time. Afterward, even though we will have already proven our worthiness, we will also enter the tournament and play against the other teams. Although playing them is not altogether necessary, we will always balance need and desire. Fun is never far from our thoughts as we evaluate every situation, although according to Elaine, we should be above it all.

Letter B Contractions

Uncle Dabby can be difficult because he never looks before he leaps. He doesn't turn when something is behind him or see what's below or beneath him. I am beside myself, and even between my sister and me, his behavior is still beyond us. We are unable to keep up with him. Did I mention that he is blind and reads braille? You'd think that would slow him down, but by heaven, it does not.

Letter C Contractions

Whether we can or cannot tell Cecci about Chris's character has been a major subject of debate. Cecci can be such a child sometimes. She can be more childish than her own children. We're not comfortable just confronting her, and we can't conceive of how we could avoid it. Mary says that conceiving of a plan must be our top priority.

Letter D Contractions

It is a dandy day for Daddy and me. We decided to deceive Mom by not declaring our intentions regarding her birthday. I declare; such deceiving is a distinctly fun thing to do!

Letter E Contractions

Each of us has ordered a glass of either mead or stout or ale at the pub. We had enough so everyone could try the beverages, but I warned the entire crew not to drink so much that we couldn't crawl over the fence later. If we ever do anything like this again, I will not taste every brew we order.

Letter F Contractions

My father respects the coach for the soccer team his friend first played for. The "gaffer," as they call him, is from England.

Letter G Contractions

It is a great foggy night to go up to the castle and look for the good old ghosts.

Letter H Contractions

He just had to have his mother here, even though he made her sit by herself through the entire performance!

Letter I Contractions

It looks as if immediate action needs to be taken in this situation. Allowing it to turn into a question of right and wrong had added a polarity that isn't needed. It's not about whether the group itself has any rights to its building.

Letter J Contractions

I just know that he is a just man.

Letter K Contractions

I know that you have the knowledge I seek.

Letter L Contractions

Unless you would like to send that letter tonight, we can wait for your son, the little lord, to sign it, too.

Letter M Contractions

How many of you meant to express your sentiments more often to your mothers? I must say for myself that I could have been much better about it.

Letter N Contractions

Telling us your name is neither necessary nor sufficient in this dark business. Actions, not words, will tell the tale.

Letter O Contractions

"One ought to conduct oneself sensibly, even just around ourselves," said the old woman. We were walking out along the fountain path and could see one of the boys chasing cows in the distance." "He gives no thought for others. If he doesn't return soon," she continued, "we'll miss the four o'clock tea."

Letter P Contractions

People who could perceive the value of his work paid part of the money to fund the project. Perhaps if more of them were perceiving the value, we wouldn't need to continue fund raising.

Letter Q Contractions

That quick answer to the question was not quite right.

Letter R Contractions

It may not be right, but I would rather receive the rejoicing of others at their good fortune than rejoice at receiving my own.

Letter S Contractions

I said that she should ask some spirited person, such as Steve, to help with the concessions. She still hasn't done so, but perhaps she shall.

Letter T Contractions

They know that by themselves they cannot complete this project tonight. Their time to get together today is too limited. These actions must be thought through, and there are those who feel "be true to thyself" is the only motto. They want to wait until tomorrow.

Letter U Contractions

He told us that we would have to take it upon ourselves to look under the building.

Letter V Contractions

This line is very short!

Letter W Contractions

Where was he and who was he with when he was supposed to be working on Will's world history report? He gave his word that he would help, which he obviously did not. If I were you, I would not want to trust someone whose word means so little.

Letter X Contractions

It isn't much.

Letter Y Contractions

You are young enough to enjoy yourself on vacation. Go by yourselves and have fun!

Letter Z Contractions

This is the end, as if you didn't know!
